

Meeting Speaker

Jeremy Orr DVM, DVCSc,
Dipl. American College Veterinary Internal Medicine (ACVIM) - Cardiology
VCA Aurora Animal Hospital, Aurora IL

Dr. Orr received his DVM degree from the Atlantic Veterinary College, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, Canada in 2004 where he graduated with honors. After graduation, he completed an internship in small animal medicine and surgery at the Ontario Veterinary College where he developed a keen interest in diseases of the heart. Following completion of his internship, he worked in general small animal practice in downtown Toronto before working full-time emergency medicine at one of the largest emergency and referral hospitals in Canada. In 2007 he returned to the Ontario Veterinary College for his cardiology residency and received board certification through the American College of Veterinary Internal Medicine in 2010. During his residency and as part of his Doctorate of Veterinary Science graduate degree he led a large research project studying arrhythmogenic right ventricular cardiomyopathy (ARVC) which most commonly affects Boxer dogs. Through his research project, he collaborated with the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto on the investigation of the genetics of this disease. This part of the project was aimed at identifying the genes responsible in both Boxer dogs and people afflicted with the disease. In September of 2010 he joined the specialists at the VCA Aurora Animal Hospital where he offers complete cardiac work-ups including echocardiography, blood pressure, ECG and Holter monitoring.
