Dr. Chris Gunnon, President

Presenter: Dr. Stuart Clark-Price

9:00 AM—10:00 AM

A Practical Approach to Anesthetic Protocol Building for the Small Animal Practitioner

The goals of this lecture are to provide practitioners with information on selecting drug protocols for patients in various states of health to provide the most optimal care possible when faced with a limited set of anesthetic and analgesic drugs.

10:00 AM—11:00 AM

Anesthesia for the Acute Trauma Patient

This lecture will provide practitioners with an overview of the pathophysiology associated with blunt force trauma and how this may impact anesthetic management of these patients.

11:00 AM—12:00 PM

Managing Common and Uncommon Complications in Small Animal Anesthesia

All patients undergoing anesthesia are susceptible to complications. Certain complications are more common than others and can be expected in most animals undergoing anesthesia, whereas others are less common and more commonly associated with specific conditions. The goals of this lecture are to familiarize the small animal practitioner with the more common and some of the uncommon complications and to develop strategies to minimize them.

12:00 PM—1:30 PM

Luncheon

1:30 PM—2:30 PM

What's Coming Down the Pipeline: Newer Drugs in Small Animal Anesthesia and Analgesia

Looking for information on what is new and exciting in anesthesia and analgesia in veterinary medicine? This lecture will provide information on the resurgence of some older medications and what new and exciting in this complex area of veterinary medicine.

2:30 PM—3:30 PM

Pain Management for Osteoarthritis in Dogs

Chronic pain associated with osteoarthritis in dogs can be a frustrating and challenging condition to treat and directly impacts the quality of life in these patients. This lecture will provide an overview of the process of osteoarthritis and various forms of treatment that may be of benefit.

3:30 PM—4:30 PM

Refresher on Anesthetic and Analgesic Drugs

The goals of this lecture are to provide practitioners with a refresher course on some of the more common classes of anesthetic and analgesic drugs used. This will include mechanism of action, use, and adverse effects.
